

Spare Me

Contributed by Mitch Randall
Thursday, 04 February 2010

On my way to the hospital today, I hit something in the highway and had a blowout. As I was changing the tire, all I could think about was the dad in The Christmas Store. I am proud to say I got through the ordeal in record time without any problems and very few curse words.

Any of you have any good blowout stories?

- Mitch is mobile blogging.